37 yrs later the thinkers do not think – or can't. They still regard the official mythology as the unquestionable fact which 8 yrs earlier 9 out of 10 Americans refused to believe. The actual and ignored and misrepresented official evidence is that Oswald was not & could not have been the "lone" assassin that he could not have fired a shot then and that the rifle said to have been his was not – could not have been – used in the crime. There is no real evidence of him as the assassin. All that already makes him the assassin is fabricated and is refuted by the actual official evidence.

What like all the others Brodeur ignores is the proven by the official evidence, the JFK assassination was a conspiracy or a coup d'etat which, under our system, any assassination is.

No questions for 37 yrs & none after 37 yrs.

The media which failed the country & itself, then perpetuates its failure – persists in these failures.

The failures which made the coup d'etat possible and which protected it over the years.

This respected thinker says there is no difference between Bush and Gore their announced policies or their political parties & their policies
